Criminal psychology, also referred to as criminological psychology, is the study of the views, thoughts, intentions, actions and reactions of criminals and all who participate in criminal behavior. Criminal psychology is related to the field of criminal anthropology. The study goes deeply into what makes someone commit a crime, but also the reactions after the crime, on the run or in court. Criminal psychologists are often called up as witnesses in court cases to help the jury

What Criminal Psychologists Do - Verywell Mind

- Lombroso's (1876) theory of CRIMINOLOGY suggests that criminality is inherited and that someone "born criminal" could be identified by the way they look.
- He suggested that there was distinct biological class of people that were prone to criminality. These people exhibited 'atavistic' (i.e.
